

CICSE Lectures on Growth and Development

Stephen Turnovsky

Castor Professor of Economics, University of Washington at Seattle

Capital accumulation and economic growth in open economies

Lucca, Palazzo Bernardini

July 11-13, 2007

July 11

3:30 PM Basic Models of Balanced Growth
5:00 PM Basic Models of Balanced Growth
(continuation)

July 12

9:30 AM Transitional Dynamics and Long-run
Growth
11:00 AM Transitional Dynamics and Long-run
Growth (continuation)

July 13

9:30 AM Foreign Aid, Capital Accumulation,
and Economic Growth
11:00 AM Foreign Aid, Capital Accumulation,
and Economic Growth (continuation)

Admission is free
but registration is needed

Please register yourself at the site

<http://cicse.ec.unipi.it>

“CICSE Lectures on Growth and Development” will be delivered by internationally renowned scholars working on economic growth or economic development. Extended versions of the lectures will be published by Cambridge University Press in a dedicated Series.

In our days many scholars tend to concentrate their own products in the form of articles in top journals. The “CICSE Lectures on Growth and Development” is planned to provide invited scholars with the opportunity to recollect and reorganize their ideas, to present them in a more general format, to provide proofs of special cases or some empirical studies that in short presentations like that of an article of a journal cannot be exhaustively treated, and to provide deeper analyses of some points.

We thank the following institutions
for the financial support:

UNIVERSITÀ
DI PISA

Fondazione
Cassa di Risparmio
di Lucca

Assindustria Lucca